What is in rice water?

Rice water or rice extract is packed with proteins, vital vitamins, such as vitamins C and E, minerals, amino acids, and antioxidants. For example, vitamin C helps produce sebum which moisturizes the scalp, and vitamin E coats the hair creating soft, silky tresses. Amino acids, the building blocks of proteins, are small and able to penetrate the hair strand where they aid in strengthening and repairing the hair from within.

Rice also contains inositol.
Inositol benefits your hair in three ways:

- it increases hair elasticity
- it decreases surface friction. When the hair strand's surface is smoother, the strands glide by each other with less friction leading to fewer knots and tangles
- it remains inside your hair strands even after the rice water has been rinsed out

Who benefits from using rice water products?

Anyone really but especially high porosity hair and/or hair that has been chemically processed, bleached, colored, or is damaged. Damaged hair benefits from rice water because it acts as a strengthening agent and aids in repair. The protein in rice water strengthens hair by repairing gaps in damaged hair and improving elasticity. Rice water smooths the hair's cuticles thereby adding shine, reducing surface friction, and aiding with detangling. Rice water may also reduce dandruff and relieve a dry, irritated, itchy, and flaky scalp.

Tip

A DIY rice water rinse is more cost effective than buying a product. There are three ways to make a rice water rinse: the boil, wash, and ferment method. And there are a lot of DIY recipes on the internet. However, if DIY is not your thing, there are many specially formulated fermented rice water and rice water extract products available on the market and presented in this Guide.

Tip

Products containing rice water extract in the first five ingredients are the best as the rice water is present in a higher amount (as opposed to being further down the list and present in a small amount).

How To Use This Guide

There is a lot of information in the guide - don't get overwhelmed. We have done the work for you. All you need to do is:

- 1 - Take our Hair Quiz.
- 2 - Read the short introduction in the guide.
- 3 - Review the icons at the top of the guide.
- 4 - Check the icons underneath each product.
- 5 - Match the icons with those at the top of the guide.
- 6 - Select those products that match your hair characteristics.
For example, if your hair is thin or thinning (low density) look for products that are marked for low density hair.
- 7 - If you are allergic to certain ingredients, such as aloe or coconut, avoid products with those icons.
- 8 - If your hair is limp or damaged, pick products with the protein icon.
